THE AUSTIN LEGACY

The Austin Company is a vertically integrated, multi-disciplined general contracting and construction management firm, offering a comprehensive portfolio of services, including planning, site location, architectural design, engineering, design-build, construction management and general contracting.

Austin was founded in Cleveland, Ohio, in 1878 and today serves clients from five offices across the United States and Mexico: Irvine, California; Cleveland, Ohio; Atlanta, Georgia; Kalamazoo, Michigan; and Mexico City, Mexico. Now, 140 years later, we continue to build long-term partnerships with our clients, delivering the best value and service possible in a collaborative approach – just as our founder, Samuel Austin, intended.

When developing facility solutions, Austin draws from our deep pool of professional talent and financial resources to deliver results for all projects, regardless of size or complexity.

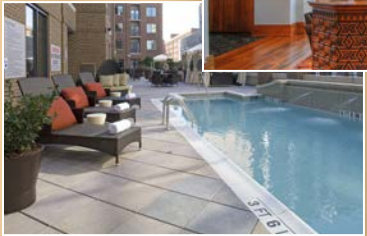

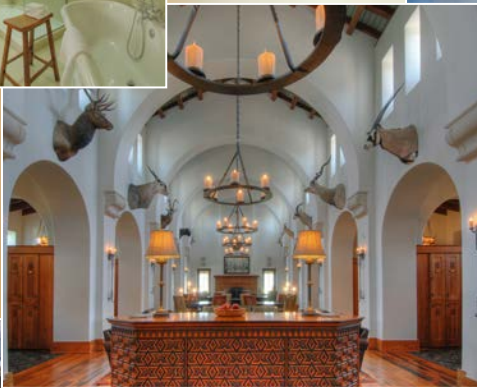

Austin's breadth of experience includes hospitality, multi-unit, mixed-use, healthcare and senior living properties, restaurants, and higher education facilities, as well as industrial and other commercial projects throughout North America, Europe and Asia.

Each member of the Austin team, whether in the field or the office, aims to exceed all project expectations, including cost control, schedule control, quality control, subcontractor management, communication and safety.

Austin meets our clients' vision for their project through a commitment to solution-driven teamwork, fast-track construction, quality finishes and proven expertise in our industry – providing the foundation for excellence.
